Puppies must mature to seven weeks to eight weeks old to be allocated for home placement. It's extremely important that each puppy get their ideal home, and you get the ideal puppy. PET ALLERGY GUARANTEE:

If you or a member of your family has pet related allergies, a multi-generational puppy will have the most potential to be allergy friendly. Very seldom will the coat of a multi generation Labradoodle puppy be a problem. Although some people find they are allergic to dog saliva.

If after purchasing and delivery of a puppy you find that it does not work out for you or your family because of allergies, we require notification within 4 days after delivery of your pup. In this case you will have to verify the condition with a written statement from your doctor. We will gladly take the puppy back in this situation, and you will receive a substantial refund. The expenses incurred in the process of prepping/shipping the puppy to you and if applicable also for the return shipping and expenses if required.

NON-SHEDDING COAT:

Labradoodles will have some very low hair breakage or loss just as humans have a certain amount of natural hair loss. This is not considered shedding. Note: Puppies will molt off their puppy coat as adult coat grows in and will require additional brushing during that time.

PUPPY RETURN POLICY:

If at any time your puppy does not work out for you for any other reason listed in the pet allergy guarantee section above, please notify me and I will take the puppy / dog back or be able to provide for re-homing. You will be refunded some of your money deducting the reshipping or pickup expenses or other costs and you will receive it only when the puppy is resold. This however, it may not be the full amount of the purchase price, as older dogs do not always sell for the same price as a puppy. Deposit is always non-refundable in all cases any shipping cost to return the puppy / dog is buyer's responsibility.
